Dr. Keith Joe

Clinical Director   Australian Centre for Health Innovation

Director of ED Innovation

Keith has been a Consultant Emergency Physician for 12 years

Keith is a clinical champion in creating synergies between building design, efficient workflow processes, and the practical use of IT.

He was the recent Medical Design Lead and IT Implementation Manager for the Emergency Department redevelopment at The Royal Melbourne Hospital. He led the clinical

Keith's current role at the Australian Centre for Health innovation involves fostering understanding and working relationships between architects, IT personnel and clinical staff. He has a passion for the emerging use of RFID in contemporary hospital operations for improving patient care and flow.